FOR NEXT GOVERNOR OF PENNSYLVANIA

ADJT. GEN. D. H. HASTINGS,

Subject to the decision of the Republican State Convention

A YOUNG woman witness refused to kiss the Bible. She was not an atheist, but simply a clean young person who objected to the dirty cover.

KEEP your children in doors, for the dande-lion will soon be out, and the time is here when the cow slips up and the johnny jump-ups may run over them.

IT is a noticeable fact that the democratic leaders in New York City are not tumbling over each other in their eagerness to secure the fine, fat place left vacant by Flack. The sweets of office are not so sweet as they used to be.

THE mayor of Wilkesbarre has declined the numerous offers of aid tendered for the starving miners in that section. He says Wilkesbarre is rich enough to take care of the poor, without outside assistance. If such is the case, why are there so many starving people?

THERE seems to be a flood of Democratic defalcations of late in the Southern States. With the State Treasurers of Louisana, Maryland, Missouri and Mississippi all proven defaulters, it is no wonder that decent democrats in the regions where democracy is supreme are becoming disgusted with the conduct of the leaders of their party.

THE man whose life work along the danger and ruin line to his fellow man, certainly cannot be on the best of moral relations with his Maker and his fellow man. To love God with all the mind, heart, soul and strength, and his neighbor as himself, forbids him from following any occupation that will dishonor his Creator or injure his fellow man.

THE Pittsburg Times says that P. Gray Meek's Bellefonte Watchman is on the fence as to the supporting of Wallace or Pattison for governor. We guess our Pittsburg friend don't exactly know the political position of our esteemed contemporary. If the Watchman is on a straddle it is certainly with a good sound leg on the Clearfield side of the fence while there is nothing but a sore and bleeding stump hanging over in Pattison's pasture field.

CENTRE county republicans never performed an act that will redound more to their credit than when they elected delegates to the State convention and instructed them for Hastings. Some papers will say, "why it was his own home, they could not help but do that" but we say there have been other counties in this State that have been the homes of other aspirants, and they did not elect delegates for them; and we don't believe there was one other county that was so unanimous in the choice of its home representative. It speaks well and will be a help all over the State.

IT AUGURS WELL.

Such unanimity as was displayed at the County Convention of the Republican party held in this place on Monday Augurs good, not only to the success of our eminent townsman, General Hastings, in his attempt to receive the nomination for Governor, but also to the success of the republican ticket in Centre county.

The convention on Monday was a convention "of the people; for the people and by the people," it was the voicing of the sentiments of the entire party throughout the entire county and not merely the sanctioning by the many of the wishes of the few. That has now become too democratic to be practiced by republicans.

This shows a full and thorough organization and a harmony most perfect. With the party in such a condition it only remains for a little hard work and the success of the county ticket next fall will be assured. There is only one word of caution we have to give, and that is to be careful and prudent in the selection of the men to fill the respective offices. Observe this caution and put forth a good fight and we promise you victory.

SILVER LEGISLATION.

On this important subject a gentleman, who has studied the question very thoroughly both at home and abroad, writes us his views, which we think are sound and valuable. We quote:

"In the exchanges of the world, London is the arbiter of rates and the gold price of silver on that market regulates the rate of exchange on London, in all silver using countries. London has hitherto been the dumping ground for all the surplus silver of other nations, and while absorption of that surplus gradually takes place by withdrawal for export to the East and to the Continent, the price of the surplus in London has regulated the price of silver bullion measured in gold for the rest of the world, and consequently the exchanges of silver using countries on London.

"The measures now before Congress differ only in method, their aim being to enhance the value of silver as measured in gold, and therefore it is of the first importance to know some of the effects of those measures upon the industries of this country.

"The first and most important will be upon prices of wheat. Our principal competitions in the markets of Europe are Russia, Egypt, India and Australia. With the exception of Australia, these countries have silver currencies, and any enhancement of the gold value of silver must therefore act as an embargo upon the export of their wheat until such time as their markets and those of Europe reach a parity for price. Both must change, European markets must advance and the others decline in order to enable business to be done, and a new level of prices will therefore be established dependent upon the amount of wheat this country can export in competition with Russia, Egypt and India, when their silver prices have receded so far as to enable them to export at all.

"The same argument applies to cotton. Our principal competitors for European markets are Egypt and India, and the silver price of cotton in those countries must decline in order to enable them to export at to-day's gold prices. Of course the gold price would advance under such conditions, and if production should be normal a new level of prices would be established.

"In the export of mineral oils, the argument is somewhat different and the problem more complicated. Here we have Russia as our only competitor as she would benefit by the raise of the gold price of silver in her exports to gold currency countries, but she would not be benefited so far as her exports to silver using countries are concerned and we should be. For we could ship oil to those countries costing in silver as much less than at present, as the difference in the gold price of silver. This being the case the advantage would be partly ours, for a new level of prices would be established and we should get our share of the difference.

"It is well here to observe that the absorption by India of large amounts of silver depends upon the extent of her exports, and if we cut down her exports we cut down her capacity for absorbing silver also. I do not regard this as very serious; the change in the level of prices must be mainly in Europe, and while a check upon production of Wheat and Cotton in India would occur, the export would gradually be re-established but upon a higher level of gold prices.

"It must be evident that the monthly purchase of $4,500,000 worth of silver by the U. S. Government would materially advance its price in gold, and so would make the quantity bought pro-rata less than now; but I do not think that silver would go to par with gold (15 1-2 to 1) and be maintained there, by that measure, which is conservative, and as an experiment would show us what to do later in the same direction.

"The cost of the proposed legislation to the Government is but a shadow of its value to the country, and I have pointed out only a few of its many advantages, not having touched upon the question of currency, which is perhaps the most important point of all, but one upon which as great a diversity of opinion exists as there are interests to be served or antagonisms to be overcome.

"Believing as I do that the Government should alone have the power to issue money, I would steal the inflation argument away from the opponents of silver legislation by gradually replacing the National Bank currency by certificates based upon silver bullion but I am now getting into a new question, the merits of which the good sense of the whole country will sooner or or later recognize."

Self-Respect.

We are indeed directed, not to think of ourselves more highly than we ought to think, but there is another extreme to which, perhaps, we are quite as likely to go, and there is frequently need for us to offer the prayer of that old Scotchman who used to say: "O Lord, be pleased to give me a better opinion of myself." We belittle ourselves because we do not appreciate the dignity which God has put upon us. True, the Psalmist says: "When I consider the heavens, the work of Thy fingers, the moon and the stars which Thou hast ordained, what is man that Thou art mindful of him, and the son of man that Thou visitest him?" But as if to prevent undue self-depreciation by a misconstruction of his language, he immediately adds: "Thou hast made him a little lower than the angels, and hast crowned him with glory and honor. Thou madest him to have dominion over the works of Thy hands; Thou hast put all things under his feet." The scion of a noble house, the inheritor of a princely estate and an illustrious name, may not stoop to littleness and meanness. There was something superb in Nehemiah's attitude, when, in response to a suggestion of flight with a view to his own personal safety, he promptly and emphatically answered: Should such a man as I flee? And who is there, that being such as I, would go into the temple to save his life?' That was spoken like a man of God, and a man of God should carry himself as one who is conscious that the world has a right to expect of him the highest courage and the purest life.

'Beloved, now are we the sons of God, and it doth not yet appear what we shall be, but we know that when He shall appear we shall be like Him, for we shall see Him as He is. And he that hath this hope in him purifieth himself even as He is pure.' Or, in other words, the consciousness of sonship is calculated to lift one to a lofter level of living. One feels as if he owes it to himself to walk worthy of the high vocation wherewith he is called, and owes it to his Father not to disgrace His holy name.

Pride is no doubt an abominable thing that God hates; but a proper self-respect is an invaluable safeguard, and we can not too seduously cultivate it, both in ourselves and in those who are committed to our charge.

If parents and teachers did but understand aright this principle, many a child that now goes headlong to the bad would be saved to a life of usefulness and honor on earth, and an eternity of blessedness in Heaven."

HIGH LICENSE IN MARYLAND.

The Maryland Legislature is in a quandary. Petitions have been presented to it from all the commercial bodies, churches of all denominations, officials of the courts and city of Baltimore, praying for the enactment of a high license law. The law these bodies favored would have provided for a maximum license fee of $1,000. The bill has been modified, and now provides for a maximum fee of $600 and a minimum of $300.

The liquor dealers are trying hard to prevent the passage of even this measure, and, as many of them are ward politicans and have a good bit of influence in the Gorman ring, it is possible that they may corral the democratic members of the Legislature and prevent the passage of the bill.

If they do, the people of Maryland will know just where and how to assess the damages, and will be apt to show at the polls next fall what they think of the rum-ruled democracy.—Mail and Express.

WHO IS HE.

A correspondent writing to this paper asks the following questions regarding George W. Delamater. "Who is he? What is he? What has he done? What is he going to do?"

Personally we have not the honor of his acquaintance, but we know him to be George Wallace Delamater, of Meadville, Pa., a man of wealth and distinction and a man who stands well with his people at home. He has been State Senator for a number of years, and is connected with the Standard Oil Company. As to what he has done, we really do not know, publicly speaking. As to what he is going to do, from the present stand point we think he is going to try most mighty hard to get the nomination for the next Governor of Pennsylvania, but it is our earnest conviction that he is going to —"get left!"

CONVICTED IF NOT CONVERTED.

Any person that read the two articles in last week's Watchman, the one entitled, "Figures that Show the Deception," and the other "Explanations that Need Explaining," could not fail to see therein a candid and open acknowledgment that the REPUBLICAN'S explanations of the bridge and State tax question were substantially true and correct; and that our neighbor, laboring under a deep conviction thereof, struggled and grappled with all his remaining strength to fight off a full conversion to the proven facts as given in this paper and, he succeeded. But mark the result; it is very evident that the articles in question were written and finished almost with the expiring breath of unbelief, just before the editor gave up to the teachings and preachings of incontrovertible facts and entered the broad light of reasoning and persuasion as set forth in the full explanation given in this paper last week.

Well, we welcome you dear brother; but for the enlightenment of the public who, perhaps, do not know as much about the county's finances as you do, we will just say that both the explanations given in the REPUBLICAN were right and if anyone will carefully read the Watchman of last week they cannot help but be so convinced, as they will therein fail to find anything that will prove that this paper doubled up on its own tracks and tripped up over its own explanations. The first explanation given in this paper was right so far as it went, but we never claimed that it was a full statement of all the facts. When our neighbor called for a fuller explanation we gave it, and the Watchman's own articles are tacit admissions of the correctness of ours.

We gave brother Meek a chance to prove the falsity of our statement by establishing a custom or precedent according to his claim and opposite to ours, but, did he do it? Well, we guess not. The ground was too dangerous to tread on, better let well enough alone and let the butter burn in the kettle than to attempt to stir it with a short handled spoon when there is an almost taxation certainty that he will get burned by so doing. Oh, No! the records of the democratic powers that were are past and buried records and may smoulder into the dust of ages before the editor of the Watchman will resurrect them as proof(?) in any controversy.

And do you know why, reader? simply because he knows that he could find nothing therein to substantiate his arguments on "contracted indebtedness," "liabilities," "estimated expenses," etc., and that he further knows that he would find all there that the Republican claims in substantiation of its statements.

As there now seems to be no loop hole of escape you had better just come out this week and tell your readers that the whole board of commissioners and the county statement is all right.

Why the Eight-hour Day is Demanded.

Too many advocates of the eight-hour day are in ignorance of the vital principle which underlies the agitation. They argue in this fashion: If the hours of labor are cut down to eight, the idle men who have flocked to this country will be employed, and we shall be correspondingly happy. Following that course of reasoning to its logical conclusion, we should have to cut down the hours of labor still further in a few years to accommodate the idle thousands imported to this country by steam and railway companies, and after the number of the unemployed increased again we should have to reduce the hours of labor again and again until the unemployed of Europe and Asia had landed, when we should have nothing to do. On higher ground does the sincere advocate of the short-hour workday base his agitation. The final solution of the work-day problem will come when the workman becomes a sharer in what he creates. To-day the laborer is considered by his by his employer to be no more a factor in the field of production than the spade which he handles. The laborer has no other interest in the work he performs than to draw pay for the work done at the end of the week or month. Workman and employer find their interests to be identical in but one particular—to get the most out of each other. Take an employer who gives work to one hundred men. The value of their labor we will rate at $2 a day. He pays them an average of $1 a day each. His profits will equal the total wages paid, and in twenty years he may retire a wealthy man. How fares it with his workmen? They remain poor, and retire only to the poorhouse or the cemetery. What do the riches of the one represent? To labor, then, belong the vast sums that rich men leave after them to erect poorhouses and charitable institutions, which would not be necessary if the workmen were paid what they earned.—Master-Workman Powderly in North American Review for April.

DESTRUCTION IN THE SOUTH AND WEST.

The terrible cyclone that swept over portions of the South and West on last Thursday has no parallel in the history of this country. The great Kansas cyclone, some years ago, was insignificant compared with this. Louisville, Kentucky, seems to have suffered the greatest loss, both in number of persons killed and amount of property destroyed. The Conemaugh disaster is still fresh in the minds of everyone. There a billow of water swept through the town taking everything with it. In this case, the storm passed through Louisville and cut a swath as clean, as fearful and relentless as the floods in the valley of the Conemaugh, only that homes were blown down and torn into splinters, with the inmates crushed to death neath the fallen debris, instead of being hurled to a watery grave.

No authentic reports as to the full extent of the destruction have yet been obtained, but estimates place the loss of life in Louisville alone at 500, and the destruction of property almost five million. The total number of persons killed through the path of the cyclone will foot up into thousands, and millions of dollars of property has been laid waste. Surely this is an inauspicious beginning for the year 1890 and, considering the fact that untold horrors are prophecied as yet to come—and that soone—the beginning of the new year is anything but bright and charming. Can we take the scriptural doctrine of John, in his book of Revelations, and compare the present state of things with his prophecy therin of what shall take place "in the latter days" and believe that prophecy as now being fulfilled?

Interesting Discovery in Relation to Sugar-Canes.

Much interest is evinced in scientific circles by a discovery which has just been made at Kew by Mr. D. Morris, the assistant director. Hitherto the sugar-cane has been produced from cuttings or slips exclusively, as no one knew that there were such things as seed in the plant. After a long search Mr. Morris has at last discovered that each cane produces a number of seeds, from which it is possible to grow a variety of improved canes, and it is anticipated that by cross fertilization and selection of the best seeds a considerable increase will be made in the yield of sugar in the tropical plantations. He instances the case of beet, which, when first introduced for sugar-growing purposes, yielded only about 6 per cent., but now, by the method of selection of proper seeds, it produces about 18 or 20 per cent. of saccharine juice. The seeds of the cane have been discovered in the panicle or flowery head of the cane, and the difficulty of finding them has been increased by the similarity of the glumes and the havis. It was only by the aid of a powerful microscope that tiny seeds were detected, and a number of plants were exhibited at the last meeting of the Linnaen Society, with the seeds attached. At Kew Gardens there are some plants about nine inches high, which have been grown from seed obtained from canes sent from the Barbados. The importance of this discovery cannot be overestimated, as it will tend to drive beet sugar out of the market.—Manchester Courier, London Correspondence.

FOR COUNTY COMMISSIONER'S

In another column will be found the official announcement of John Decker as a candidate for the nomination for county Commissioner. Mr. Decker has been Commissioner now going on three years and in all that time, his official acts have been performed with fidelity to the county and credit to himself. Mr. Decker is as deserving of the nomination as any man we know of and is certainly entitled to the full support of all republicans.

—All the unknown dead of Johnstown have been buried in Grand View cemetery, and a contract has been made for a headstone to each grave. A monument will be erected as soon as practicable as a fitting memorial to this unparalleled disaster.

MISSISSIPPI is doing better. It hanged a white man on Wednesday for murdering a negro.

Russian Students in Rebellion.

We have been in the habit in this free country of ours to regard the rioting of students as partaking of the character of an exaggerated or somewhat overgrown frolic. It is the same in the British Isles. An inconvenience to the polices sometimes such rioting is but dangerous; in any broad or general sense, never.

It is different in Russia. There the rioting of students at the universities is invariably associated with an irritated condition of public sentiment, In Russia there is no public opinion in the sense in which we understand it. The platform and the press are both under a rigorous and merciless censorship. But the events of the day are not easily kept from the intelligent youth at the great national schools of learning When they riot, they have, as a general rule, wrongs personal or public, which they want to have redressed.

These present disturbances at the different Russian universities are of evil omen, and if the Czar does not open his eyes to facts we may hear of disasters on a large and murderous scale.

Grist Mill Burned.

Flames were discovered at 4 o'clock Monday morning in the grist mill of Keyser, Keiss and Losch, at Salladasburg. Efforts were made to save the mill but the fire had gained such headway that they proved fetile. The mill was thoroughly over-hauled a few years ago and the new process of machinery was put in. The loss is $18,000.

HASTINGS' PRACTICAL JOKE.

He Delivers His Friend's Set Speech Before a Sunday School.

Pittaburg Dispatch.

Colonel J P Coburn enjoys a good story, and he likes to tell one occasionally. He did it yesterday, and it was about Dan Hastings. The story, of course, is public property in Bellefonte, where the General is well known, but it may be new to some Pittsburgers.

When Hastings was a younger man, he and a friend of his named Yocum were invited to address a Sunday school a few miles from Bellefonte. Yocum and the General were chums, and they roomed together. Hastings made no preparation, but intended to speak as the spirit moved him. Yocum gave his subject much thought, and finally wrote out a speech. The night before they were to make the addresses the two were sitting in their room, when Yocum pulled out his manuscript and wanted Dan's opinion of his composition. Now, Hastings has a remarkable memory, and when so inclined can retain almost anything he hears. Yocum read the speech, and they finally agreed that Hastings should speak first.

Arrived at the school the next day a committee met them, and when they were asked if it made any difference who should take the floor first, Yocum replied: 'Oh, no; Hastings and I have settled that. He will be the first speaker.'

The General then delivered Yocum's set speech, and the latter was paralyzed. He managed, however, to make some blundering remarks, but his rage was furious. He wouldn't talk to Hastings for a long time, until friends began to notice the coolness.

'What's the matter between you and Dan?' one of the boys asked Yocum.

'You ask Hastings,' he answered. 'He played a mean trick on me, and I won't forget it.'

The joke finally leaked out, and everybody had a hearty laugh at Yocum's expense.

SPRING ITEMS.

One of the greatest drawbacks to the growing of carrots and parsnips is the slow germination of the seeds, which permits the young weeds to take possession of the ground before the carrots and parsnips appear. As the rows are thereby obliterated it is difficult to use the hoe. To obviate this sow radish seed in the rows with the seed of carrots and parsnips. As the radish will quickly appear the rows will be plainly seen, and can be worked. When the radishes are large enough they can be pulled out and used on the table.

Whenever the fertilizer is applied the benefits therefrom extend into the second, and, perhaps, third and fourth years. There are always some portions of the fertilizer that are insoluble, but which become available after the lapse of a year or more. As certain plants require particular plant foods, the second crop may be more benefited by the fertilizer than the first, much depending on the composition of the fertilizer.

Weeds will come up sooner than the crop. The damage from weeds is done early in the season, as they crowd out the young plants and appropriate the plant food. Much labor can be saved by working the plowed land over with a cultivator and harrow before planting if the weeds have made a start.

Some varieties of peaches will not thrive on sandy soil, while others do not thrive well on heavy soil. The early varieties do not seem to be as reliable as the later kinds. One of the hardiest and best varieties is Stump the World, which has been tested in New Jersey with satisfactory results.

The rapid growth of an animal when it is young will be an advantage to it later on in life. The greatest proportionate gain with animals is during the first year. If the young stock is kept in thrifty, growing condition the first two years the greater proportion of work required to secure a profit will have been performed.

Millet is an important crop, and should be grown more extensively. As soon as the warm days come on is the time for seeding. The ground may be plowed early in the season and well manured, as millet thrives best on rich soil. It grows very rapidly, and yields a large crop of hay in a short time.

In a series of experiments conducted by Professor Collier, he found that for every dollar expended in food there was left in the solid and liquid manure 73 cents, which is just as valuable to the farmer as the original food procured, as it can be converted into salable products the next year.

She Had been To Church.

I have a friend who doesn't go to church himself, but sends his wife regularly. I dined with him last Sunday, and he took advantage of the circumstances to display her devotional tendencies before company.

'What was the text, Sue?' he asked.

'Oh, something somewhere in generations; I've forgotten the chapter and verse. Mrs. Hughes sat right in front of me wearing the worst looking bonnet I ever saw on a woman's head."

'How did you like the new minister?'

'Oh, he's simply superb! And Kate Selwin was there in a sealskin that never cost a cent less than $100.'

'Did he say anything about the new mission fund?'

'No; and the Jones girls were rigged out in their old silks made over. You would have died laughing to have seen them.'

'It seems to me you didn't hear much of the sermon.'

"The fact is, George, the new minister has a lovely voice; it almost put me to sleep."

A long silence followed, during which George absently helped me to pickles and mustard, while his wife sat looking as demure as a saint at a circus. Suddenly she exclaimed:

"There! I knew I'd forgot to tell you something! The fringe on Mrs. Brown's cape is an inch deeper than mine, and twice as heavy!

Make Your Own Ice.

Below we print directions for making ice on small scale. In view of the ice crop failure it is just in place and if on trial it proves practical would no doubt furnish many blocks of ice where otherwise this useful commodity would not be available. Take a cylindrical vessel and pour three and one third ounces of commercial sulphric acid and one and three fourth ounces of water into it and then add 1 ounce of powdered sulphateof soda. In the centre of this mixture place a smaller vessel containing the water to be frozen: then cover the vessel, and if possible revolve the whole with a gentle motion. In a few minutes the water in the smaller vessel will be converted to ice. The same mixture can be used a second or third time for making a block of ice. The operation should, if possible, be performed in a cool place.

A LADY'S PERFECT COMPANION.

PAINLESS CHILDBIRTH, a new book by Dr. John H. Dye, one of New York's most skillful physicians, shows that pain is not necessary in Childberth, but results from causes easily understood and overcome. It clearly proves that any woman may become a mother without suffering any pain whatever. It also tells how to overcome and prevent morning sickness-swelled limbs, and all other evils attending pregnancy. It is reliable and highly endorsed by physicians every where as the wife's true private companion. Cut this out: it will save you great pain, and possibly your life. The following statements are part of the evidence collected by the Chronicle Telegraph:

All the Charges Made Against the Delamater Managers After the Convention are Fully Confirmed.

A representative of the Chronicle Telegraph, of Pittsburg, has made a careful investigation of the charges printed in The Times, immediately after the Cambria County Republican Convention elected State Delegates with Delamater instructions. These charges in brief were that the primary elections had not been conducted under party rules; that proper notice had not been given; that in many election districts the polls were not open at all; that the expenses of the delegates to Ebensburg had been paid by representatives of Delamater, and that the convention in no sense represented the Republican voters of the county. The Times knew the charges street by H W Storey. The same credentials entitled his father, Samuel S Shoup, to the position of delegate from Conemaugh township. He was surprised at first, because he knew there had been no primaries and no votes cast. His credentials were in handwriting not familiar to him, but he thinks it was Storey's. They were not signed by anybody, but the secretaries of the convention made no objection to them. He was also given a railroad ticket to Ebensburg and return by Storey. His vote was counted for Delamater, but he says he voted for Hastings. He declares the convention was illegal.

"W. F. Cook, of Stonycreek township, gives a damning picture of the way the convention was worked. He says: "About three days before the primaries Henry D. Kinkead came to me and asked me to be a delegate to the County Convention and to take with me some man who could be trusted to vote for Barker and Swank as delegates to the State Convention. I asked him who they would be for, and Kinkead said that while they might be for Delamater, if he looked like a winner, there would be no instruction by the convention for anybody. I agreed to this. There was no primary of any kind in Stoneycreek township. Four of us went and drew up the papers. I asked W D Miller to be colleague, and Lewis W Buck and John E Stuitts signed our papers. They were not sworn.

"The convention at Ebensburg met at 1:30. It was not in session more than 15 or 20 minutes. The roll was read and then Tom Davis jumped up with a written resolution instructing for Delamater, which was read by Barker. There were several objections from delegates and a few words of discussion followed, in which I took part. I claimed there should be no instruction. Barker applied gag law and would not give anybody a chance to talk. Miller voted against the resolution and so did I. If Davis had not had his resolution ready in writing and we had had a chance I do not believe it would have passed even in that set up convention. I believe the majority of the delegates favored Hastings, and if let alone would have voted for him. The resolutions were rushed through before half the delegates knew what it all meant. After the convention I heard a lot of delegates, and some of them close to the Barker gang, kick about the way they were deceived. About 20 said they had been told there would be no instructions. Several delegates intimated to me that they were well paid. The report was that Andrews said Quay would support Swank for Congres or let him name a man to run against Scull, of Somerset; Storey was promised the place of postmaster at Johnstown; Barker had the Ebensburg postoffice: Kinkead is Deputy Revenue Collector, and Tom Davis is said to have got boodle. I heard that Chairman Andrews and Delamater set up the whole scheme. I don't think from what I heard at the convention that there was a regular primary in the county. On the morning of the convention, H. W. Storey gave me my ticket to Ebensburg and return. There were about 40 delegates at the Johnstown depot of the Pennsylvania Railroad, and Storey gave them all railroad tickets. Those tickets cost $1.75 each.'

'In the Second ward of Millvale, now the Fourteenth ward of Johnstown, there was a particularly bold game. Jacob Mangus is a well-known Republican worker. He has been prominent in the party for 20 years in this ward. He says: 'There were no primaries in our ward. Evan G. Lewis and Sam Lawrence are the men who do Swank's work here. They are down on me because I was once a delegate to a county convention and would not vote as Lawrence told me to. These two men got Constable Boucher to open up the hose house, on Iron street, on the evening of the primaries. They had no lamp lighted in the hose house, and there was no sign of an election. I went to the so-called polls at 6 o'clock, having just heard about the primaries. There was nobody there. There were no election officers and nobody was sworn. There was not a single vote cast. Lawrence went to the house of L. C. Huff about 6.30, and asked him to make out the election papers. Huff was sick and refused. I am told that Lewis then made out the papers. George Mangus told me he wanted to vote, and went to the polls about 6.30 and nobody was there. I met Lawrence in Finley's store before 7 o'clock. We had a quarrel. I told him I wanted to vote and he laughed and said I was a crank. The papers were made out for J. B. Gray and Jacob Stutzman as delegates. They were not candidates, and afterward said they did not vote because they knew nothing about the primaries until the next morning, when Lawrence came to their homes, gave them their credentials and told them to go to Ebensburg Monday and vote for Swank and Barker. Stutzman told me that he got $5 for being a delegate. They will not talk now, for somebody has told them to keep quiet. There are about 112 Republican votes in our precinct, and about 25 to 30 are usually cast at primaries. Many Republicans in the precinct say that they will vote for a Democrat if Delamater is nominated, because of the way we were treated. At the borough election we were able to get only half of the regular vote for the Republican candidates.'

'Barr township had no primaries, but Chairman Barker wrote to S. D. Patterson to be sure to come up and to bring a delegate with him. He brought E. W. Evans. Patterson was a valuable man. He was one of the secretaries of the convention. They had home-made credentials, not sworn to, and fixed up by themselves.

'W. W. Empfield, postmaster at Belsona, was written to by Barker, and made himself and William George delegates, arranging the papers themselves without the semblance of primaries.

'Cambria township, which adjoins Ebensburg, was represented by E. M. Humphreys and Abel Lloyd, who saved their constituents all trouble by sending themselves and fixing their own papers.'

All over the county the deal was conducted on the same general principles.

Enthusiastic Proprietor—"What do you think of the new hotel?"

Prospective Guest [diffidently]—"Rather fine."

E P—"Fine? Grand, I think! Did you notice the fresco-work in the dining room and the new furniture in the hall?"

P. G.—"Yes, I noticed them,"

E. P.—(persistently)—"Well, what do you think?"

P. S.—(gloomily)—"Oh, I suppose I'll have to pay for them before I leave."

YOUNG Mr. Scheinstein—"Do you dink dot marriage was a vailure, Oncle Moses?' Uncle Moses—'Off you make monish py marrying it vas as goot as a vailure, my poy.'

"You should know, Fanny, that it isn't proper for a young lady when she is out walking to turn round to look at a gentleman."

"Yes, mamma, dear; but you see I was only looking to see whether he had turned around to look at me."

Cumso (whose wife has sent him to "match" some goods)—"Have you any calico like this?"

Dry Goods Merchant—"I am sorry to say that I am like a rare book."

"How is that?"

"I'm out of print."

They were at an evening reception and expected to leave town in the morning early.

"I wonder what time the trian leaves?" remarked Jones.

"As soon as you get off of it," interrupted a lady in front of them, giving an angry tug at her skirts and quite upsetting the awkward Jones.

The name of the man who was drowned at Moshanon Falls last Saturday was Leaf Woodling. He was a raftsman and the body has not been found. A wife and three children are left to mourn his death.

There are three diseases now before married men—Spring fever, spring bonnets and spring house cleaning.

A Stringent Fish Law.

It is not generally known that by the act approved May 22, 1889, all kinds of net and seine fishing, or any other appliance for the catching of fish, (which thus includes outlines,) is prohibited under a penalty of $100 or three months imprisonment, or both, with the forfeiture of boats, nets and all appliances. Fish wardens and all other public officers are authorized to destroy nets of all kinds or any other device used, and arrest the parties using them on the spot and any party interfering with such officer or resisting arrest will be subject to a fine of $100 or three months in jail, or both. The only permissable or legal way foy catching game fish in season is rod, hook and line. One-half the fine goes to the officer. The penalty for catching any game fish out of season is $10 for each fish. This act is stringent enough to stop all piratical fishing, and needs only an energetic and fearless warden or two to do it. In one respect the act is defective in requiring one-half the fine to be paid to the state. It ought to have been given to the county to be applied to the pay of wardens.

Cut out all of the old wood from currants and gooseberries and put a good shovelful of manure around the roots of each bush.

The average butter yield is said not to exceed 150 pounds per cow per year, whereas it should be double that amount.

Lettuce will grow in the open air at this season if sheltered by a fence on the north and the plot faces the south.

Late plowed sod land will again be covered with grass unless the soil is worked frequently.

The pig loves a little early grass as well as the other animals, and should have a share.

ROBERT NEILSON, General Agent

LORD AND LADY.

A certain young woman, with the rosy cheeks and very bright eyes of the typical American girl in tennis weather, was walking down the street one day when she happened to meet a certain fine young fellow with a heavy cane, a lofty collar and a manner even more exalted. This very lofty young man was foreign specimen. He came from far over the sea, in a land where long ago, when men were simple as savages, they all bowed down to the rules set up by the few who were smart enough to think. One of these rules was that a son of a gun must be a gun, no matter how well he may disguise it. The guns were lords, earls, barons, counts, and various other varieties and some of them were only guns in a barbarous, brutal way, and in these days would rank as low as any professional bouncer in some small groggery. The sons of these guns having the unusual advantages of wealth and power conferred by their fathers, managed to hold on it and hand down some to their descendants of these days; but intellectually and physically they have pretty well gone to the bow wows, and the men who to day wear the titled trade mark are interesting specimens of a strange social deformity. They stand in the full blaze of the light of our civilization, and in spite of the teachings of anatomy and the practical tests of life they insist that they are of a superior varity of mankind, by reason of the fact that remote ancestors of theirs were rulers in times when the misrule was frightful to think of. Well, this fine young fellow with the cane and high collar, was a rarely good specimen of the class. His manners were perfect, his physique imposing, his education carried to the full extent of his high average mental capacity. All that he needed to make him a real man was ability to do a man's work. He lacked this because, although lords have long ceased to do any ruling, their positions in society does not permit their use for any other purpose. The young man resembled the buttons that were used by his great grand father to hold up the sword belt in the times when swords were always worn. The sword has gone, and the reason for the coat tail buttons has passed away, but there they are, and from sheer force of habit they are kept there, serving no earthly purpose of use or ornament. As a coat might look queer without tail buttons, so England would look strange without lords, but people would soon get used to the reformed costume, as we have in America, and agree that no buttons are better than useless ones which are continually getting shabby, no matter how bright and new some of them may be.

To return to the rosy, bright-eyed young woman; she was the daughter of a noble of modern times, an energetic, just and honorable man of business in this land of business men. She came, she saw and conquered the young man of ancient times, because he could not help himself and because she found her titles becoming. Then they went by, as time has a way of doing. The young lord was wealthy and did not marry for money, very much. If he had been a German or Italian count it might have been different; the American girl might have preferred a man without a title, but English lords, you know, have lots of real dignity and wealth. Time continued to go on. He began to move faster, Heriditary membership in the House of Lords was abolished, primogeniture and entail followed. Strikes and financial panics consequent upon the rivalry of the United States in foreign markets signalled the downfall of Great Britain's commercial power and wealth. The great family estate was sold for debt. European war drew England into the battle field, and the handsome hero lost his nose in stopping a bullet for her majesty. He also took a dose of several of his most ornamental teeth, the medicine being administered by the hind foot of an army mule. In England meanwhile hereditary titles were abolished, the old duke died, and penniless, without title, profession, or valuable capacity of any kind, this coat tail button of modern civilization was torn from his easy and distinguished place just as the old noblesse of France had been a century before. So the son of the lord was forced into the ranks of industry and did what little he could, and as little of it as possible—and time went on. And at last a little old woman, with pale, lined face and quiet eyes, bent over her sewing in an attic room, and stopped to put a button on an old dress coat, for 'my lord' who was a waiter in a fashionable restaurant.

Dr. Collier, of the New York Experiment Station, is authority for the statement that the saving of one cent a day upon the dairy cows of New York is over $6,000,000 a year. This shows the importance of economy in feeding. The waste on farms is the heaviest loss in agriculture.

Stiff clay soils are benefited by the application of lime and potash every year. Such land should be turned over late in the fall or early in the spring, so as to allow the frost to pulverize it. Thorough drainage is also beneficial.

Sow the first crop of peas early if you want them before the medium varieties come in. The dwarfs are the earliest. The standard runners which require sticking, are the highest flavored.

It is very difficult to kill some forms of fungi. It is said that the spores of the fungi that cause club-foot in cabbage have stood the test of a temperature of twenty degrees below zero and the heat of an oven while roasting a leg of mutton.

A sandy soil becomes warm sooner than a heavy soil. While the seeds may germinate and appear earlier on a sandy soil, yet there should not be too much hurry in planting for fear of late frosts.

Cut back the rose bushes. The roses are borne on the new wood. Give plenty of manure, and make the soil around the bushes rich.

Success in gardening depends on the seeds. It is a waste of time and labor to use inferior seed. Be cautious and procure seed from the most reliable sources only.

If the ground is not frozen you may put out your onion sets as early as you wish. Onions thrive best in the spring, before the warm, dry weather comes.

FIRST HE GOT THE MONEY.

Toledo Blade

There were probably a hundred people in the old Island House Depot in Toledo when a tall, thin man, who might have been 40 years old and did not look to weigh over ninety pounds, who had a rope harness on him, passed around the waiting room and said;

'I am going to give an exhibition of strength outside the building and shall expect the small sum of a dime from each looker-on. I am going to attempt to raise a dead weight of two tons.'

All the men and quite a number of the women went out, and enough town people came down to make a crowd of 300. The thin man passed around through the crowd and took up a collection, and he must have got an average of ten cents for every one present. When he had pocketed the money he approached several large grind-stones lying in a heap and chained together and announced:

'Ladies and Gentlemen—I thank you kindly for your contributions. Here is a dead weight of 2,000 pounds. I shall attempt to lift it.'

An iron hook in the harness was hooked into the chain shackling the grindstones, and the thin man began to straighten up. He was encouraged and applauded by the crowd, but the strain he put out would not have raised fifty pounds. He kept at it three or four minutes, and then unhooked and backed off, and said:

'Ladies and gentlemen, it's no use; I can't do it. I have tried and failed.'

'See here—this looks like a fraud!' exclaimed a man who had chipped in a quarter.

'Oh, don't say that!' sorrowfully replied the thin man. 'You all saw me try.'

'But you led us to believe you could lift 2,000 pounds.'

'Well, I was in hopes I could. I really wish I could, but I don't believe I ever can.'

'That's pretty durn thin!' growled red whiskers, 'and I've a good mind to give you a taste of my boot!'

'Oh, please don't! I tried my best and when a man has done his best such talk hurts his feelings. You don't know how badly I want to lift 2,000 pounds.'

'I believe you are a fakir.'

'A fakir! Hear him ladies and gentlemen! Because I am not as strong as a dray horse he calls me a fakir! This is too much—too much! I am used to adversity, but this breaks me!

And he sat down on the 2,000 pounds of cold grindstones and wept like a child—wept until the crowd scattered and he could get away with his $30 without being kicked.

Mud is Monarch.

MRS. T. P. RYNDER.

Mud is a monarch whose knightly sway,
Demands for its own the right of way,
And none may question or say him nay,
Though bemoaning his tyrany day by day.

He presses his stamp on each passing sole,
Be it Chinese, Hungarian, English or Pole;
Every shine he demands as his rightful toll,
Though men may swear, or laugh or cajole.

Bellefonte is his throne and he loves each hill,
With its musical trickle of rain-wrought rill,
"All these," he laughs, are grist to my mill,
As the drains overflow and the crossings fill.

"Pleasure," he says, the size of each shoe,
The pour foot that crowds on a number two,
The boot of the school girl—always new—
And the farmer's brogans, wet with morning dew.

"I class all mankind in a loving embrace,
The beggar in rags, and the wearer of lace;
And I decorate many a school-boy face,
Though I sit upon silks with benignant grace,

"The rubber man loves me, and well he may;
For I fill his deep coffers up day by day.
The boot-blacks adore me—'tis I, they say,
Who keeps business moving and makes it pay.

'But I see in the warmth of the gleaming sun,
The prophecy fearful—"Thy race is run,'
And I feel that my epitaph, if I have one,
Should read—'Labor to work well and faithfully done."

"Boss wouldn't blanket him in the stable. Said it wasn't no use."

TO ADVERTISERS!

HOW TO GET THE MOST SERVICE FOR THE MONEY!

The Advertiser who would be willing to pay twenty-five cents for every family who could be "educated" up to the value of his goods would thus devote $3,000,000 to educate the 12,000,000 families which make up the 60,000,000 of the United States. This sum would do the business thoroughly in a year, for it is sufficient to pay for the insertion of a full column in every issue of every publication, and for resetting the matter, making it new in every issue of each separate publication. We will receive and execute the contract.

$5,000 One of the most successful Advertisers we ever had always ordered his advertisements in this way, "Get the best service you can for me for $5,000," leaving every detail to us. We were thus enabled to say to a Publisher, if you put this in at a large reduction from your rate it will be no criterion for further transactions. It was a surprise to find ourselves so often able to contract for the insertion of that particular advertisement at half rates, in papers which would not permit us to OFFER their columns at a penny's deviation from a printed schedule. The advertising rates of one New York paper are double those of another which has twice the circulation of the first. Similar discrepancies are not uncommon. The advertisement intrusted to us to be placed in accordance with our judgment often does double service for half the money. A dollar for twenty-five cents.

$1,000 If we are given authority to insert advertisements to a limited amount, in such mediums as ofier inducements which seem to us specially favorable, we shall not abuse the confidence reposed in us, and shall render statements of whatever is done (if anything) from day to day. When TRUSTED with the placing of an advertisement, we are put upon honor, and are bound in honor to give the best servce possible for the money to be used.

$500 Leading Newspapers, especially the leading Agricultural Nswspapers, frequently issue large special editions (of twenty, fifty, a hundred, or even five hundred thousand copies,) and eslicit advertisement orders from us on terms which would often be accepted by our patrons if there was time to invite attention to the matter; but the question must generally be decided before there would be time to write and receive a reply, and often the caso cannot be fully stated within the limits of a letter.

$250 Prepare a small advertisement and send with check for $250, or any other sum. The practice of asking the Agent to name his papers in advance compels him to name such as are well known, otherwise there is reason to suspect that his judgment is biased;—and the best papers do not like to have their rates quoted below their schedule.

$100 The advertiser who sends his advertisements asking for the best service possible for one hundred dollars, will often get from five to fifty per cent more service for his money, than he would had he required us to tell him in advance exactly what service we would promise; for when an estimate has been given its plan and specifications must, in a general way at least, control the advertising to be done: It ties the Agent's hands and prevents his giving his patrons TO-DAY a better service than he could have promised yesterday, because yesterday the opportunity had not presented itself: to-morrow it may have passed! Some publications are used more economically on contracts for a single issue; in others insertion for a month may be had as cheaply as for a single week but in furnishing an estimate in advance, if the Agent attempts to go into details, his correspondence becomes voluminous and the advertiser confused.

$50. If you are in the habit of occasionally inserting a small advertisement in a few papers, investing a few dollars and carefully noting the result; we desire you to make trial of our Advertising Bureau, sending us the advertisement and the money, leaving the selection of the papers to us, and judging of the service rendered by results rather than by names, circulation claims or prices. To make up careful estimates calls for much work. It don't pay to make them indiscriminately for every applicant. If such estimates as are asked for were always given the Advertiser who wished to expend $50 would frequently find himself in posession of a scheme which it would cost $500 or possibly $5,000 to carry out.

$10. We devote all necessary care to placing small orders for Advertising:—even the smallest! Time is saved by sending check with the order. Often the Advertiser is not possessed of sufficient information on the subject to enable him to judge of the merits of an estimate for advertising, and he decides by the footings of the figures whether he will or will not do the work. Yet the estimate binds the Agent and makes it improper for him to make any variation in its specifications, however much his judgment may point to material changes which ought to be made. This is specially liable to be the case when the order comes a considerable time after the estimate was made.

DANGER FROM FLOODS

The Mississippi River Still Overflowing Its Banks.

THE LEVEES GIVING WAY.

The Work of Closing the Crevasses Has Proved a Complete Failure, and the Attempt Has Been Practically Abandoned.

NEW ORLEANS, April 2.—Crevasses continue along the front of the Yazoo district in Mississippi, and it is now feared that the greater portion of the Yazoo delta will go under water.

An ugly break is reported from Austin, in Tunica county, some distance from Greenville and the highest point on the river at which a crevasse has yet occurred. It is likely to do much harm.

The water from the Offutts, Skipwith and the other breaks in Mississippi is rapidly moving southward and flooding the country for many miles inland. Mayersville, Hayes and Fitler's will soon have the water on them. Mayersville is protected by a back levee, but the water is rising against it. One crevasse in this levee has already occurred, but was stopped in time.

Thirty Miles Inland.

The flood from the Pecan Grove crevasse in Louisiana has finally reached Rayville, in Richland parish, thirty miles inland, where it has stopped work on the New Orleans and Northwestern railroad. The Vicksburg, Shreveport and Pacific railroad is also threatened by the water from this break. The Louisville, New Orleans and Texas railroad had abandoned trains between Rolling Fork and Greenville, and is running no trains on the riverside division except from Greenville to Hampton and from Cahoma to Bnoit. These are the only roads affected by the high water.

The Work a Failure.

The work of closing the crevasses, except those below the city, has been a complete failure. The Harlem crevasse, below, has been closed, and that at Bohemia nearly so, and work is progressing rapidly and satisfactorily on the Live Oak break. All those above New Orleans, however, continue to grow larger. The Nita break is 1,000 feet wide; that at Pecan Grove nearly a mile, and the various Mississippi breaks aggregate nearly a mile.

All attempts to close them have been practically abandoned, and great difficulty is being encountered in holding the ends and preventing them growing wide. They have, in most cases, increased in depth from eight to twenty feet.

Refugees Arriving.

As yet the losses in the flooded districts are not great, except in stock. There is some disposition to call for government aid in the matter of rations, but this is generally opposed by the planters, who fear that it will greatly disorganize the colored farm hands and prevent their doing any work.

A number of refugees have come here from the flooded districts, some of them arriving today in barges. In the meanwhile the river continues to fall here, and is now fourteen inches below the highest water reached, and the situation is regarded as reassuring, except in the flooded districts. It is now thought that the Louisiana levees below Red river can be held.

Six Parishes Flooded.

The danger is greatest between Vicksburg and Greenville, on both the Louisiana and Mississippi sides of the river. The levee at Bedford's on the Louisiana side, near Vicksburg, is reported in a very precarious condition. A break here would add to the water from the Pecan Grove crevasse and cause more damage in Madison, Tensas and Concordia.

The flood is as yet restricted to six parishes in Louisiana and between 1,000 and 1,200 square miles. Much of it, however, is low lands, not settled or cultivated. The water in Mississippi covers less area yet, but probably will greatly extend.

Deer Creek Rising.

ROLLING FORK, Miss., April 2.—Deer creek at this place is rising at the rate of three quarters of an inch an hour, and the back water on the west side has completely covered all the land between here and Steele's bayou, with the exception of about half a mile strip of highland along the bank of the creek. No back water has made its appearance on the east side, but the common belief is that it is only a matter of time till both sides will be covered.

A Sad Drowning Accident.

MILFORD, Ills., April 2.—Grant Adsit, his wife, his 2-year-old child, and a young daughter of Elmore Thomas attempted to cross Sugar Creek ford, four miles northwest of here, Monday morning, and three of the party were drowned, Mrs. Adsit being the only one left of the party to relate the sad story. The stream was raging, and the wife protested in vain against attempting to cross. The wagon bed was lifted and borne down stream. Adsit plunged into the water and tried repeatedly to push the floating box to shore. After desperate efforts he succumbed and sank. Miss Thomas was thrown out and also drowned. Mrs. Adsit clung to the wagon bed after her babe was drowned before her eyes, and afterward managed to grasp the willows which overhung the stream and drag herself ashore. Searching parties explored the creek all day, but no bodies have been recovered.

The Battle Beginning.

CHICAGO, April 2.—Six hundred plumbers met at Plasterers' hall and in a session that lasted most of the night resolved to quit work and hold out for their demand of $3.75 for an eight hour day as the minimum day's wages. The men presented this demand to their bosses last week and gave them until last night to consider it. The bosses ignored the demand, and a strike is the result. Two hundred lathers struck and will likely be followed by 300 or 400 more. They have been receiving about an average of $2 a day and demand to $2.60 to $3. The carpenters, paper hangers and cigar makers are also preparing to strike.

Almshouse Abuses.

LEWISTON, Me., April 2.—George R. Medbury, the former keeper of the Lewiston almshouse, has been arrested for alleged cruelty to the inmates. Ellen Slattery has sued Levi Greenleaf, agent of the overseers of the poor, for damages for an alleged assault and battery when she called on him for aid.

Canadians Disgusted.

MONTREAL, Que., April 2.—There is intense dissatisfaction here at the tariff changes, the duty on pork and lard especially having aroused a deep feeling, and already mess pork has gone up $1.50 per barrel.

HON. LEONARD RHONE.

A Brief History of His Life—A Public Career of Which Any Man Might be Proud.

Leonard Rhone was born on the farm on which he now resides, part of the old manor of Nottingham, once owned by the Penns, on the 21st of July, 1838.

Leonard was one of the sons of Jacob and Sarah Rhone. His father died in 1853, and Leonard remained on the farm with his mother, who, with true womanly courage, continued to carry on its operations, keeping the family together and securing for them all the educational advantages the neighborhood afforded until its members arrived at a proper age to enter upon higher courses of study at seminaries and colleges.

In 1857 Mr. Rhone served a voluntary apprenticeship of some months in a coachmaker's shop in order to acquire a more practical knowledge of mechanics arts to aid him in farm management:

But deeming a better education in the science and learning of the schools of great importance to his success in November, 1857, he entered Kishacoquillas Seminary as a student. When asked by Mr. Alexander, the principal, what pursuit or profession he proposed to select for life he promptly responded, "that of a farmer."

In 1864 Mr. Rhone was married to Miss Maggie Sankey, daughter of James Sankey, of Potter's Mills, a lady of extraordinary energy of character and rare mental worth. His mother, relinguishing charge of the farm, he became the lessee of the old homestead and in May, 1865, upon a sale of the place, on mutual agreement of the family, he became sold proprietor of his father's property.

It was during these years of farm life that the Patrons of Husbandry began to formulate their ideas and it was through the exertions of Mr. Rhone, who was one of the charter members, that Progress Grange, No. 96, was organized at Centre Hall.

At the organization of Centre county Pomona Grange, No. 13, September 15, 1875, he was elected Master for one year and reelected five consecutive terms. In December, 1877, he was chosen Master of his own grange, No. 96, and served his term with great acceptability.

In December, 1878, he was elected Overseer of the Pennsylvania State Grange, which position he held for two years, and at the close of his term at the session of the State Grange, held in Greensburg in December, 1880, was unanimously chosen Master, to succeed Colonel V E Piollet, and is now serving as Master of the Pennsylvania State Grange, having been re-elected for five consecutive terms.

In June, 1880, he was elected a trustee of the Pennsylvania State College, and reelected in 1882.

In 1882 Governor Hoyt appointed him a delegate to the National Agricultural Convention held in the city of New York.

In December, 1883, Governor Pattison appointed him one of the seven Building Commissioners of the Huntingdon State Industrial Reformatory, and in 1884 Governor Pattison appointed him a member of the State Board of Agriculture.

In November, 1884, the Democratic party of Centre county nominated and elected him to the State Legislature, and in 1886 he was re-elected, serving it with distinction and acceptability.

In 1889 he wos, by an act of the Legislature, selected by the State grange as one of the seven Revenue Commissioners appointed to revise the 'tax laws' of the State. Upon this commission he is serving at preset, representing the agricultural interests.

In stature Mr. Rhone is five feet eight inches high, erect, compactly built capable of great endurance. The immense amount of labor he performs as Master of the State Grange in correspondence, public duties in connection with his own personal business is sufficient to break down any ordinary man, but he is untiring in his efforts.

Intellectually Mr. Rhone is a plain, practical thinker, only arrives at conclusions after mature consideration. His enthusiasm is always tempered with good and careful judgment. He may justly be considered a safe counselor.

His administration of the State Grange and other public official duties have been eminently successful. As a presiding officer he is calm, courteous and firm and wields the gavel with grace. As a speaker he is earnest and enthusiastic, fortifying his positions with facts and figures.

Personally Leonard Rhone is a warm-hearted, generous and true man, never forgets a favor or forsakes a friend. Appeals to his generosity are never made in vain. His moral character is unsullied and his Christian conduct above reproach. In a word, he is one of "nature's noblemen."—Col. R. H. Thomas in the Philadelphia Times' gubernatorial gallery published as No. 23, in the issue of Saturday, March 29.

Nature in Convulsion.

Is terrific. Volcanic eruptions, cyclones earthquakes are awfully and tremendously picturesque, but scarcely desirable to emulate in action and effect by the administration of remedies which produce convulsion and agony in the abnormal portion of the human frame. Such is the effect of the old fashioned violent purgatives happily falling more and more into disuse, and of which Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is the wholesome, pleasant and far more effective succedaneum. They weakened the intestines—the Bitters invigorates them. They left the bowels inactive, because incapacitated by ensuing feebleness. The Bitters, on the contrary, and because it enables, not forces, them to act—a vast and fortunate difference—perpetuates their activity and regularity. The liver is beneficially stimulated, as the kidneys also are, by this medicine, which easily conquers, also, malaria, nervousness and rheumatism.

They Were Brought Back.

On Sunday evening two bright and intelligent Bellefonte boys took a fool notion that they would like to play "the deserter." They left their good comfortable homes and took first-class passage between two cars on a freight train for Tyrone. Their destination was discovered however, and word telegraphed to chief-of-police Snyder, in Tyrone, to apprehend the pair. On their arrival in that place they were received with open arms and welcomed into the bosom of the "law" family where they were doubtless given the best room the habitation afforded. Chief-of-police Garis went to Tyrone on the 5.20 train Monday evening and returned on the late train bringing the "longing for excitement" young men along back with him, and restored them to their families.

"Lay thy sweet hands in mine," he said, but she only remarked that she had neuralgia and must hold her head. He gave her Salvation Oil and now he holds her sweet hands by the hour.

From almost every section of the State come reports of a general improvement of the health of our people, due no doubt to the influence of Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup which costs only 25 cents.

That Cleveland Boom has a way of going off at half-cock that must be excessively annoying to Mr. Cleveland. Certain confident and callow youths at the Ohio State University have just sent it off again and Mr. Ceveland whose natural prudence and practical acquaintance with America politics have evidently taught him that permature explosions of carefully laid trains are frequently most disastrous to those who have laid them, chides the too halcyon and vociferous Buckeye students in a paternal way

WHAT IS

SCROFULA

It is that impurity in the blood, which, accumulating in the glands of the neck, produces unsightly lumps or swellings; which causes painful running sores on the arms, legs, or feet; which developes ulcers in the eyes, ears, or nose, often causing blindness or deafness; which is the origin of pimples, cancerous growths, or the many other manifestations usually ascribed to "humors;" which, fastening upon the lungs, causes consumption and death. Being the most ancient, it is the most general of all diseases or affections, for very few persons are entirely free from it.

How Can It Be CURED

By taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, which, by the remarkable cures it has accomplished, often when other medicines have failed, has proven itself to be a potent and peculiar medicine for this disease. Some of these cures are really wonderful. If you suffer from scrofula, be sure to try Hood's Sarsaparilla.

"My daughter Mary was afflicted with scrofulous sore neck from the time she was 22 months old till she became six years of age. Lumps formed in her neck, and one of them after growing to the size of a pigeon's egg, became a running sore for over three years. We gave her Hood's Sarsaparilla, when the lump and all indications of scrofula entirely disappeared, and now she seems to be a healthy child." J. S. Carlile, Nauright, N. J.

The Plight of a Louisiana Gentleman—He Loses His Finger Nails and Hair.

The following is an extract from a letter written by Mr. W S Loomis, of Shreveport, La., under date of September 19th, 1886:

"For a year I was afflicted with a horrible case of blood poison, and upwards of five months of that time I was unable to do work of any kind. My finger nails came off, and my hair dropped out, leaving my head as clean and smooth as if it had been shaved. I consulted the best local physicians, and spent hundreds of dollars for medicines of different kinds, but without receiving the slightest benefit. I was advised finally to visit Hot Springs. This I did, but becoming disgusted with the treatment I was receiving there, commenced taking Swift's Specific (S S S.) The effect that S S S had on me was truly wonderful. I commenced to recover after taking the first bottle, and by the time I had taken twelve bottles I was entirely cured—cured by Swift's Specific (S S S) when the world renowned Hot Springs had failed.

—That is a very likely story that came to us through Tuesday's papers saying that Hastings was to be sidetracked for Delamater. As the story goes President Harrison is to offer Hastings the position of Assistant Secretary of War, a new cabinet position just established. Wonder if Quay and Wanamaker, who is also in the scheme against Hastings think that the General can be so easily induced to throw up the splendid chances he now has and thus retire from the race voluntarily? If they do we hope they are mistaken.

A Governor's Opinion

An ex-General of the Union Army, ex-Governor of the State of Maine, ex-Representative to Congress, and ex-Attorney General, speaks for us.

With the exception, possibly, of Hon. James G. Blaine, there is no man so well-known to the people of Maine, as

GEN. HARRIS M. PLAISTED,

Who has a grand record as a soldier, who has been the Governor of the State, Representative to Congress, and who is at present the editor and proprietor of the "New Age" newspaper, printed in Augusta, Me.

General Plaisted, formerly a resident of Bangor, Me., knew Dr. William H. Brown intimately, and did not hesitate, when he found himself out of condition, to use Brown's Sarsaparilla.

In due season Gen. Plaisted found himself a perfectly well man, and one day, while at his desk in his editorial room, wrote an article on Maine's famous remedy. The article was issued July 15th, 1887, and, while our space will forbid the printing of the whole, we feel warranted in taking from it the following:

Gen. Plaisted says: Our confidence in Brown's Sarsaparilla is based upon personal knowledge of its curative properties in cases of Malaria, and upon our long acquaintance with that eminent physician, Dr. William H. Brown, late of Bangor, who perfected the formula by which the medicine is prepared.

of

Malaria is a prevalent disease now-a-days. It not only fastens itself upon the systems of the old veterans, who fought for years in the Southern swamps and low-lands, but it takes hold of those who live in the atmospheres of the cities and larger towns. Gases from swamps, sluggish rivers, sewers, the streets, and many other ill kept places, poison the system, making the entrance of some other disease easy. You can avoid all danger, can keep disease at a distance, and have a system teeming with rich blood and vitality, by simply using Brown's Sarsaparilla, which purifies the blood when others fail. It is the best in the world.

Fire at Milesburg.

On Tuesday evening the building at Milesburg owned by Lewis Wetzel and on the first floor of which is the store of T F Adams, caught fire in the ware room part of the store and burned one corner out of the building before the flames could be checked. The Milesburg G A R post room is on the second floor of the building and was considerably damaged, especially by the smoke. The loss will be about $300 but it is insured. It looked at one time as if the entire row of houses would be taken but the efficient service of the bucket brigade saved them.

Easter Services.

The services during the coming easter season, at the Reformed church of this place, will begin on Thursday (this) evening at 7½ o'clock, sermon by Rev. M. O. Noll.

On Good Friday morning, at half past ten o'clock, services will be held preparatory to the celebration of the Holy Communion on Easter Sunday. On this occasion Rev. Prof. Schiedt, of Lancaster, will conduct the services, which will be unusually solemn and impressive. The Reverend gentleman will also preach on Sunday evening at the usual hour. The music on these occasions, under the directorship of Prof. W. T. Meyer, will be surpassingly fine.

WHAT IS SAPOLIO?

It is a solid handsome cake of scouring soap which has no equal for all cleaning purposes except in the laundry. To use it is to value it.

What will SAPOLIO do? Why it will clean paint, make oil-cloths bright, and give the floors, tables and shelves a new appearance. It will take the grease off the dishes and off the pots and pans. You can scour the knives and forks with it, and make the tin things shine brightly. The wash-basin, the bath-tub, even the greasy kitchen sink will be as clean as a new pin if you use SAPOLIO. One cake will prove all we say. Be a clever housekeeper and try it.

BEWARE OF IMITATIONS. THERE IS BUT ONE SAPOLIO.

Elephant Remains in Alaska.

All over the great valley of the Yukon are to be found elephant remains. As a matter of fact they are scattered throughout the western slope of Alaska. Dana and Sir Charles Lyell startled the world by announcing that hairy frozen elephants were found wedged among the Siberian icebergs, but scarcely anybody knows that throughout Alaska are the remains of countless thousands of mastodons. You can dig them out and find them on the surface everywhere. So thick are the elephant remains that the native Indians, on finding them buried partially in the ground, decided they were some kind of great mole that burrows in the soil.

The collection of elephant tusks every summer is a regular business in Siberia just over Behring Sea. There are just as many of them on the Alaska side as there ever was in Siberia. Ages ago great herds of elephants roamed over these shores. Perhaps they existed down to a comparatively recent date, too, for the hairy bodies and well-preserved bones were evidences of that.

Words of Advice.

To those who require a stimulent. There are many to whom we could recommend you: We think there are just as many honest Liquor dealers as there are dealers in any other class of merchans dise, and again we believe that there are many who sell whiskey or any other commodity, who are not reliable. We have noticed that our best physicians and superintendents of hospitals have by there testimonials highly recommended Klein's Silver Age Rye therefore we say his is the place to which we would advise every one to go. He sells six years old Guckenheimer, Finch, Gibson, or Overholt for $1 per full quart or six quarts for $5. Wines, Brandies, and Gins cheap as the cheapest. Now we know what it is that constitutes the highest extreme of human felicity in Chicago. In asking its readers questions as to what they would do if they were millionaires ten times over, the Tribune, of that modest but growing town, says frankly: "Of course we know that you would quit working, attend all the baseball games and eat pie three times a day." Governor Beaver's Arbor Days Proclamation.

WHEREAS, By a concurrent resolution of the Legislature of Pennsylvania, approved the 30th day of March, 1887, the Governor is requested to appoint, annually, a day to be designated as Arbor Day in Pennsylvania, and to recommend by proclamation to the people, on the days named, the planting of trees and shrubbery in the public school grounds and along our public highways throughout the State, and

WHEREAS, The observance of such a day has been productive of much good and of an increased interest in the subject heretofore, and

WHEREAS, The experience of the people of the Commonwealth has shown that the diversity in our climate makes it impracticable to observe the same day throughout the different portions of the State, and it is thought advisable for this reason to name alternative days to be observed by the people of various localities.

Now, therefore, I James A. Beaver, Governor of the said Commonwealth, in pursuance of and in obedience to the request of the Legislature aforementioned, do hereby designate Friday, the 11th day of April, 1890, and Friday, the 2d day of May, 1890, to be observed as Arbor Days in Pennsylvania.

In those portions of the Commonwealth where the climatic conditions are favorable, the day first above named should be observed for tree planting and conducting such other exercises as have been usual, or may be desirable in our schools and by the public generally. In the higher altitudes and more northerly latitudes of the Commonwealth, the day last named can be so observed.

The executive cordially commends to all the people of the Commonwealth the general observance of the one or the other of these days for the purposes named, and would further suggest that, as a means of giving practical direction to the thought and effort of the people, village improvement societies might be organized, looking to the beautifying, not only of school grounds, but the general planting of trees and otherwise making attractive the streets and public places of all our towns and villages. Such organizations have been productive of much good in many parts of the country, and could not fail to be beneficial if carefully organized and judiciously conducted.

Arbor Day might also be advantageously used for the organization of forestry associations, looking to the dissemination of useful information upon the subject of the preservation of our present forests, and of re-foresting the waste lands of the Commonwealth. The subject is one of great importance, from many points of view, and cannot fail to commend itself to the thoughtful citizen who is mindful of the needs of the present and the demands of the future.

Let the people everywhere throughout the Commonwealth unite in the observance of Arbor Day of the present year, and make it such a day of brightness and usefulness that the designation of such days in the future will be anticipated with expectations of the highest pleasure and profit.

IN TESTIMONY WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State to be affixed, this twenty-first day of March, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and ninety, and of the Commonwealth the one hundred and fourteenth.

JAMES A. BEAVER.

By the Governor:

CHARLES W. STONE,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.

Not Such a "Clear Case" After All.

Well, well! the clever editor of the Watchman has got hold of a circumstantial circumstance and, when he wrestles with a thing of that kind, he's at his high best. Some one, on his way to our office, told the Watchman editor that he had a letter for us from Mr. Milliken and, therefore, Mr. Milliken had written something that appeared editorially in the DAILY NEWS.

Now it so happened that Mr. Milliken did write to us asking us to publish an article on the, to him, unfortunate dissensions in the Presbyterian church. He wanted us to remind the Elder that Paul told those who labored in the church that they must be a help-meet, and that they must endure all things and suffer all things—or something of that kind—and then to remind the pastor that he must not vex those who thus faithfully labor with him. But bless you, Watchman, how could we run into a breach if both were to blame. Why the Rev. Dr. Laurie is an able earnest and most worthy divine and, perhaps, in his earnestness may, at times be carried away with his theme. And then, too, everybody, even the Watchman's able editor, knows Judge Furst to be an able and upright judge, both of the law and the facts, and we could not consent to get into any controversy on the subject and so had to reject the manuscript. Off your eggs again, brother Meek.

Seriously Burned.

On Thursday evening Mr. Jackson C. Showers, the engineer at the electric light works, in this place, was throwing gasoline into the furnaces under the boilers, in order to get up steam faster, when there was an explosion and the gasoline can caught fire burning Mr. Showers seriously though, we are glad to say, not fatally. His whiskers and hair was burned and his face and hands were burned into blisters. He was at once conveyed to his home on Bishop street and the proper medical attendance given.

Harvard Quartette.

Evanstown (Ill.) Northwestern, Feb. 8, 1889.

The second entertainment in the Senior lecture course was given at the Methodist Church last evening. Popular and well attended as these programs have been in the past, the one last evening presented by the Harvard Quartette, surpassed all other in real interest, and proved a drawing card for the management, as nearly every seat in the vast auditorium was occupied in spite of the disagreeable weather. The voices of the quartette are well modulated and admirably adapted to one another. Several of their selections captured the audience completely, and a vigorous encore following nearly every selection testified to the general appreciation of the programme. W R Morris, as first tenor, seemed to be the general favorite—though perhaps no one can be mentioned as overshadowing the others. Particularly fine was the rendering of the old, familiar song, "Nellie was a Lady," while "Mary's Little Wise Man' and the tragic cantata of "The Grasshopper," evoked the greatest amount of enthusiasm from the audience.

Will be in Bellefonte on Friday evening, April 11th, 1890.

What Would Be Done in Bellefonte.

At the meeting of council on Monday, the secretary was told to write to Solicitor Harvey and find out who was responsible for any rash act of the chief of police of Renovo while on duty. We do not think this move necessary at all. If the chief of police, among other things, takes a notion sometime to shoot a person for little or no cause, or otherwise commit a murder, every school boy in the land or the veriest tyros in American laws or American justice knows that every one of the borough councilmen would have to hang. Not one of them could escape. Even the poor secretary might have to swing with the crowd on the ground of his being an accessory before and after the fact. It is a hard law perhaps, but it is a plain law and there is no use going elsewhere for an alleged legal opinion in the matter. The hanging would take place under the eighth section of the Bill of Rights, and on an ordinary wooden platform,—Renovo News.

—He who has no enemies is seldom of much account in this world, Still no wise man goes about courting opposition and seeking foes simply for the sake of having an exciting time. So far as possible one should live peaceably with all men, cultivating a courteous and conciliatory disposition, yielding on all matters of indifference and clearly manifesting that warfare is distasteful. Yet one should always adhere to his convictions on vital matters regardless of consequences. To defend truth should be the most earnest ambition of every good citizen, and here there can be no compromise. Those who in the darker and bloodier days of the world went to the scaffold or the stake with firm step and unblanched cheek rather than abandon convictions which were, dearer to them than life, furnish a high and inspiring example to this generation. The day when murder could be committed for opinion's sake has passed, nevertheless it sometimes requires high courage even now, and the abandonment of certain selfish ambitions and occasionally of cherished friendships to adhere to one's ideas of right. But better ostracism, misunderstanding and calumny than self contempt.

HE STOPPED THE TRAIN.

J. Armoy Knox in Philadelphia PRESS.

Inspector Williams of the New York police force, who had clubbed many men in his time, told me the other day of an incident that occurred last summer, in connection with which he acknowledged that he himself should have been the clubbee. The Inspector has a summer cottage at a place called Cos Cob, on the New Haven railroad, where he spends his holidays. He was going up there one afternoon, and at New York, by mistake, got aboard the express instead of a local train that stops at Cos Cob. The express does not stop until it reaches Stamford, which is some distance beyond the Inspector's destination. Williams did not know the conductor and could think of no way to get safely off from an express train going at the rate of forty miles an hour, so he made use of his philosophy, a large quantity of which he always carries with him when he travels, and he settled down in his seat intending to take a much needed rest; but the fates were against his getting the bite of sleep that his system craved. An inquisitive countryman who knew little of railroad traveling, dropped into the seat beside him and asked him questions about the danger of running off the track, what he reckoned the speed was, whether he had ever seen a cow "mussed up by the engine," etc. Williams gave the man monosyllabic and fretful answers, but Mr. Hayseed kept on talking. "Forgot to bring a lunch" he said; "never needed a shack as bad. Wished he had a chunk of pie, or even a ham-sandwich. 'Spose no chance to get it on this train."

As the old fellow said this Williams was gazing out of the window at his beloved Cos Cob, which the train was rapidly approaching, and which he knew they would swoop past in about a minute. Suddenly he gave a start. His massive sixty-two ounce brain bumped against the roof of his skull and an idea was born.

"Mister," he said, turning to the countryman, "I think you said you wanted something to eat. I can tell you how you can get a good, square chicken sandwich. Step right up to the middle of the car and pull that clothes-line near the roof—yank it hard a couple of times—and the train boy will bring you the stuff."

The old fellow started for the bell rope, and Williams stepped out on the platform. He said the train stopped with such an extemporaneous jerk that he was fired head first into a pile of sand about a hundred yards from his own gate.

"And how fared it with the old man?' I inquired, "and what did the conductor do?"

"Don't know," said the Inspector. "I am like the old nigger who said, 'When I see a mad nigger whettin' he razor on he shoe I ain't gwine to stay aroun' dar to see if he git it sharp 'nough to cut a har."

A Conductor Hurt.

Special to the Tribune.

BELLEFONTE, PA., March 28.—John Walker, a freight conductor on the Bald Eagle railroad division met with quite a painful accident at Snow Shoe Intersection. He was coupling cars when his hand got caught in the bumpers, smashing it fearfully. He was at once taken on an engine and brought to this place, where his hand was dressed by Dr. George Harris. Mr. Walker formerly resided here but moved to Tyrone about six years ago where he now lives with his family.

—We will concede that the enemies of capital punishment are right when they claim that the state has no right to take the life of a murderer who commits his crime while under the influence of liquor purchased in a barroom licensed by the state. Having authorized the business of drunkard-making, with full knowledge that drunkenness frequently leads to murder, it forfeits its right to take the life of the wretch who is made temporarily insane by a business over which it throws the shield of its protection.

—The L. H. Democrat says: "We learn from a reliable source that Judge Furst has withdrawn himself and family from the membership in the Presbyterian church in Bellefonte because of the late attack made upon him from the pulpit by the pastor, Dr. Laurie, the license question being the main cause of the trouble." We can say however that the Democrat is wrong. Mr. Furst and his wife are still members of the church and probably will not sever their connection with the same.

The Long Distance Telephone.

Some time during the coming summer it is expected that Lock Haven will be connected by the long distance telephone with Philadelphia, New York, Baltimore and probably Boston. When the new line is completed as far west as Williamsport, Lock Haven will be on the circuit as a new metalic line from this city to that place was put up last summer after the June flood.—Lock Haven Express.

Wonder if Bellefonte will be connected on that line, too.

Waked up Effectually.

A lethargic, dormant condition of the liver is hardly to be overcome with drastic cathartics and nauseous cholagogues. A gentler, pleasanter and far more effective means exists of arousing the organ when somnolent. This is Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, vouched for by the medical fraternity, tested by the public for many years. A resumption by the billary organ of its secretive function, with the activity attendant up on health, a return to regularity of the bowels, and a renewal of digestion, are the no less happy and certain results of using the Bitters systematically. Its laxative effective is never painful and drenching, its tendency being rather to perpetuate regularity than to produce a copious action. Malaria, nervousness debility, kidney troubles and neuralgia it subdues effectually.

Is Consumption Incurable?

Read the following: Mr. C. H. Morris, Newark, Ark., says: "Was down with Abcess of Lungs, and friends and physicians pronounced me an Incurable Consumptive. Began taking Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, am now on my third bottle, and able to oversee the work on my farm. It is the finest medicine ever made."

Jesse Middlewart, Decator, Ohio, says "Had it not been for Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption I would have died of Lung Troubles. Was given up by doctors. Am now in best of health." Try it. Sample bottles free at W. C. Keplinger & Co's drug store.

The First Step.

Perhaps you are run down, can't eat, can't sleep, can't think, can't do anything to your satisfaction, and you wonder what ails you: You should heed the warning, you are taking the first step into Nervous Prostration. You need a Nerve Tonic and in Electric Bitters you will find the exact remedy for restoring your nervous system to its normal, healthy condition. Surprising results follow the use of this Nerve Tonic and Alterative. Your appetite returns, good digestion is restored, and the Liver and Kidneys resume healthy action. Try a bottle. Price 50c, at W C Keplinger, & Co's Drugstore.

Piles! Piles! Piles!

Dr William's Indian Pile Ointment is the only sure cure for Blind, Bleeding or Itching Piles ever discovered. It never fails to cure old chronic cases of long standing.

Judge Coffinbury, Cleveland, O., says: "I have found by experience that Dr William's Indian Pile Ointment gives immediate and permanent relief."

The breath of a chronic catarrh patient is often so offensive that he becomes an object of disgust. After a time ulceration sets in, the spongy bones are attacked and frequently entirely destroyed. A constant source of discomfort is the dripping of the purulent secretions into the throat, sometimes producing inveterate bronchitis, which in its turn has been the exciting cause of pulmonary disease. The brilliant results which have attended its use for years past properly designate Ely's Cream Balm as by far the best and only cure. 2 w

A SPLENDID GIFT.

Mr. Andrew Carnegie's Present to the State College.

Mr. Carnegie has just donated to the Library of the Pennsylvania State College a work of exceptional importance and interest. It is entitled "Facsimiles of the Manuscripts Relating to America, from 1763 to 1783, in the Archives of England, France, Holland and Spain." The cost of the series which contains 100 volumes, is $2,000, and it will take ten years to complete the series. Only 200 copies of the work are to be printed, and the negatives are destroyed as soon as each volume is printed.

The importance of this publication will be appreciated when it is understood that it is a catalogue of the documents relating to the Revolutionary War now remaining in foreign archives, with exact photographic facsimiles. A state paper often exists in more than one form and frequently in several collections. The original may be found, for instance, at London, while copies of it, perhaps, in cipher, may be discovered at Paris, or at the Hague, or in Spain, having been sent thither by an embassador or secret agent. Each copy was prepared for a special purpose to accomplish a certain end. Whether that end was or was not attained, the means by which its object was effected, or the causes which prevented the expected results, are often shown by memoranda and endorsements made upon it by the public minister through whose hands it has passed. These memoranda and endorsements are often of the same historical value as the paper itself, and enhance its value correspondingly. It is, of course, impossible to bring them all together, but Benjamin Franklin Stevens, the author of this stupendous undertaking, proposes to give American scholars an opportunity to see photographic copies of many of the original documents pertaining to the Revolution.

The importance of these fac-simile reproductions will be further seen when it is remembered that many of these manuscripts in foreign archives are in a decaying condition and are already almost illegible. Again, no facilities exist in this country for consulting the original manuscript.

The State College is to be heartily congratulated on this magnificent addition to its Library.

More April Weather.

A secondary cool to cold wave from West and North will travel immediately in the van of a rapidly rising temperature, and storms moving from West to East—some of them active and violent—will occur about the 19th, 20th and 21st. During the remainder of the month there will be more tendency to "April showers" that is, clouds will not be organized into general, far-reaching storms, but will be broken and detached, with many local downpours, and patches of proverbial "sunshine between the showers." This will especially be so about the 25th and 26th. Frost about the 27th and 28th need not strike anyone in middle to Northerly sections unawares.

The month will go out with a warm and rising temperature, with storm indications in sight to the West. A prime disturbing factor falls on the 30th which often precipitates violent storms promptly as the arrival of a railroad train. The close of April and the opening of May will hold some very important stormstock in common, beginning in the West ending in the East. If we had to select the dates of greatest earthquake probability, we would fall upon and near the 5th, 19th, 20th and 21st. Upon the whole, continued heavy precipations may be generally counted on for April.

Death of Mrs. Lucas.

Mrs. Emily R. Lucas, youngest child of J. B. and Julian Shope, and wife of John F Lucas, residing near Snow Shoe Intersection, died on the evening of the 23rd instant from a complication of diseases terminating in pertionitis; she suffered intensely and was delirious much of the time. Her husband, who has the sympathy of all aware of his distress, did all he could to make her as comfortable as possible under the directions of her physician. Her remains were interred on Tuesday in Messiah's Church Cemetery, Rev. J Zeigler conducting the services. She was aged 26 years, 5 months and 3 days, and leaves four small children, the youngest about 2 months old, with her husband to mourn the sad loss. Two of the children are very ill with typhoid fever. May she rest in peace in hope of the first resurrection. *

Judge McCarthy Has His Say.
Published by request of the W C T U.

It will be seen that his Honor in expressing his views on the license question charges us with injustice in refusing a license to Martin Grube, and while he leaves the impression that he would have joined us in granting license to all the applicants he does not intimate that we had a single reason for refusing any, or all of the applications. Therefore his Honor has made it necessary for us in justice to ourselves and those whom we represent to give some reasons for refusing all licenses.

In the act of 1887 regulating the sale of spirituous liquors, Section 7, we have the following:

"The said court of quarter sessions shall hear petitions from residents of the ward, borough or township, in addition to that of the applicant, in favor of and remonstrances against the application for such license, and in all cases shall refuse the same whenever, in the opinion of the said court having due regard to the number and character of the petitioners for and against such applications, such license is not necessary for the accommodation of the public and entertainment of strangers to travelers, or that the applicant or applicants is or are not fit persons to whom such license should be granted."

This law of remonstrance seems very plain, at least to one unlearned in the law, that its object was to protect people from being imposed upon by liquor licensed hotels or saloons where the majority of the citizens either in town or county are opposed to it. It is known that the people of Huntingdon town and county are opposed to liquor license and for the proof of this fact we had in all sixty eight petitions for the granting of license, while we had 1460 signers to remonstrances, special and general, against the granting of any and all licenses. Would there have been any justice in granting a liquor license with such a vast majority opposed to it? And in regard to his Honor's charge of doing injustice to Mr. Grube in refusing his license, I have this to say, that his petition is for a license to sell Malt and Brewed liquors in the first ward of the borough of Huntingdon in quantities not less than a quart. The impression is made that in refusing his license his liquor will be a complete loss. This is certainly a mistake. He can sell his liquor at a fair price anywhere outside of Pennsylvania. And if he should lose his liquor, I would have to be learned in the law before I could see it was right to turn the spigots on 12,000 gallons of liquor in Huntingdon, and that much more up at Barree. I would feel it was a worse calamity to our county than the Johnstow flood. Would it not seem better for or two men to be injured in their ness than to destroy the peace of hundreds of families? And as for the intimation that the refusal of license has inaugurated a lawlessnes in our town unknown before, this is certainly a mistake as any good citizen of our town will admit. There has been a very noticeable decrease in crime as every member of our bar must admit. In proof of this fact we are willing to compare notes with any of our neighboring counties. We have not had a single case of murder in our county during the past three years, and I think but one or two criminals sent to the penitentiary. C. R. McCarthy, Associate Judge.

Millheim Murmurings.

Last Saturday the signal service failed to give us fair and warm weather but instead a very wet day.

The Knights of the Golden Eagle have been very successful so far in starting a lodge in this place, and they have already twenty some members. They expect to meet in the Odd Fellows hall every Thursday evening.

Mr. Thomas Hoy moved Tuesday from this place to his father's farm, near the toll gate west of Millheim. The rain washed the dust off of everything.

Millheim has a new barber in the person of Mr. Charles Miller, who, we understand, comes from Lewisburg, Union County.

Mr. Philip Lietzell has the roof on his house and it will now soon be ready for him to move into.

Mr. J H Kurzenknabe and lady are visiting at the pleasant home of the lady's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Harter on Penn street.

Mr. D. K. Youtz, the popular and enterprising photographer of this place, is going to move to Mifflinburg to follow his profession at that place. He being a very nice young man we are sorry to see him leave.

His Hand Sawed Off.

On Wednesday the man—we could not learn his name—who farms Benjamin Gentzel's farm about two miles east of Pleasant Gap, was sawing stove wood with a circular saw, when by some mishap, his arm was caught by the saw and the hand was completely sawed off right at the wrist. Further particulars could not be learned.

Wanted—A young man, about 16 years of age, who is desirous of learnimg a trade.

CAPTAIN PAUL BOYTON

Wants to Come to Bellefonte During the Coming Season.

The Daily News is in receipt of the following letter:

Chicago, March 25, 1890.

Editor Daily News,—

Dear Sir;—Will you kindly inform me if there is any water-side resort, such as a grove, park, picnic, fair or exposition grounds, containing water, in your neighborhood; or a sheet of water on any line of travel within twenty miles, where arrangements might be made with the manager of any transportation company for an excursion, or with the proprietor of the resort for the aquatic entertainment of Captain Paul Boyton?

The exhibition can be given in five feet of water with a surface of 200x200 feet. This is the minimum size.

The Captain's performance is most unique and entertaining, and always gives the utmost satisfaction. This year many odd, novel and wonderful features have been added—notably, an excitement and spectacular naval combat interesting torpedo warfare in connection with his dress.

There will also he all kinds of aquatic sports, such as foot races and polo games by experts while standing upright in the surface of the water in the new patent watersides rolling by champions in this line, and professional and ameteur boat and swimming races.

Wallace Ross, the famous oarsman has been engaged to take charge of the, boating department. We carry our own racing boats, and professional races will be rowed by the best oarsman known in the United States.

Our entertainmeet is the only one of the kind in the world, and it has drawn audiences of from two to fifty thousand last summer.

I will be most grateful for any information you may give me in regard to any society or association with whom, arrangements might be made for exhibiting our regatta.

Very respectfully,
Lowell C Jones,
Mgr. Capt. Paul Boyton.

Now isn't there some place within twenty miles of Bellefonte where arrangements could be made to have Mr. Boyton exhibit? It can readily be seen that the entertainment would be something entirely new to Centre county people, and one that would be as interesting as it would be attractive. Persons knowing of a suitable place should interest themselves in the matter and probably Bellefonte can make up this season what it lacked last in the way of good entertainment.

The Buffalo Run Extension.

The Pine Grove correspondent of the Watchman says: In our last we made mention of the extensive ore fields in Stone Valley to which point it is now definitely known that it is the intention of the Collinses to extend the railroad this coming summer if a possible grade can be found to cross the mountain at some point most convenient to tap the ore field over the mountain. Their present intention is to strike the mountain at Shingletown gap, to which place the right of way has been secured, and from where they believe they have sufficient distance to make an easy grade up the mountain. In our opinion never before was the railroad to this place so near within the grasp of the people as at this time, it being assured that if the right of way is secured to this place a corps of engineers will at once go to work to ascertain if possible to get across from this point. To this end every possible means will be put forth by our citizens to secure the necessary right of way: Whatever is to be done in the matter should be done at once. The line once started via Shingletown, it would be impossible to get it changed: All that is in the way is the right of way. Let it be secured at once and insure the long looked for railroad to Pine Grove.

Will Come to Bellefonte.

M.r Shein Speigelmyre, late of the firm of Gheen & Speigelmyre, has disposed of his interest in their excellent business at Antes Fort to W E Ghenn. Mr. Speigelmyre came to Antes Fort ten years ago, from Newton, Kansas, and was formerly in business in Union county, and in Rebersburg, Center county. He will have a wider field to use his business talents in Bellefonte than this section afforded him, and is sure to meet with a continuation of the same excellent success that has been his heretofore. He is a Christian young man, a splendid citizen, and has many warm friends at Antes Fort.

Mrs. Sechler Dead.

Mrs. Sechler, mother of our eminent townsman, Mr. Hammon Sechler, died at her home at Montgomery Station, Lycoming county, on Wednesday. The first intimation Mr. Sechler had regarding the sad fatality was a dispatch on Thursday morning stating that his mother was dead. He at once departed for Montgomery Station. Mrs. Sechler and family will go to-day and be there to attend the funeral which takes place to-morrow morning. We have not been able to learn Mrs. Sechler's age but she was well advanced in years.

Jamaica's Exhibition.

Harrisburg, March 26.—Governor Beaver has issued the following proclamation:

The Governor deems it his duty to cal the attention of the manufacturers of Pennsylvania to the International Exhibition, which is announced to be held in the Island of Jamaica in January, 1891, under the auspices of the Government of that island.

In view of the general interest which has lately been awakened upon the subject of intercourse and traffic between the different countrses of this continent it is important that the United States should, by every legitimate means in her power, make known the variety, extent and usefulness of her manufactured products. The International Exhibition referred to will afford admirable facilities for this purpose. A cordial invitation is extended by the government of Jamaica to this country to exhibit her products, and large space has been appropriated for American exhibits. Pennsylvania manufacturers are, therefore, urged to make early application for space and to prepare for an exhibit which will do credit to their skill and enterprise and fairly represent the high place which Pennsylvania holds among her sister commonwealths in the manufacturing industries of the country.

Applications concerning this subject should be addressed to Thomas Amor, Secretary of the Committee for the United States, Stewart Building, 280 Broadway, New York.

Witness my hand this twenty-fifth day of March, 1890.

Jas. A. Beaver.

—During the past week quite a number of farmers in Huntingden and adjoining counties have been victimized by lightning rod swindlers. The unsuspecting farmer is required to pay a small sum as the difference between the old and new rods. He is first requested to sign a contract which he ultimately finds to be a negotiable note for about ten times the amount which he agreed to pay for the exchange of lightning rods. This fraudulent scheme has worked beautifully among farmers and others in the lower end of the county, and has netted its promoters several thousand dollars.

In Other Counties.

John Hahn, a raftsman, was thrown from a boat and drowned at Moshannon Falls some days ago.

Mrs. Hannah Woods, of Boggs township, Clearfield county, is 107 years old and in good health.

The grocery of Lytle Brothers at Clearfield was relieved of a portion of its contents by burglars a few nights ago,

Willis Wertz, of Rockton, Clearfield county, while engaged in repairing a dam was caught by a cave in of the embankment and one leg was broken at the thigh.

—Owing to a change in territory, Rev. J. A. Woodcock, District Agent of the Mutual Life Insurance Company, of New York, will locate in Williamsport, Pa., it being a more central point for his business. It will also afford an opportunity for their son, Jay, to attend Dickinson Seminary which is located in that city. Mr. James D. McKee has leased Mr. Woodcock's home on Linn street.

The Notes and Checks all Safe.

The box stolen from Budinger's safe a short time ago, and which contained about $1,000 worth of notes and checks, was found on Wednesday in the woods a short way from Snow Shoe. The contents were all safe except the money that had been in the box, it was gone. The names of the boys that found the box were Sommerville and Boak.

A sea-serpent, 100 feet long, was seen to coil itself up in slippery folds on the coast of Florida last month. Three reliable persons saw this creature distinctly.

Reader, the above is a "yarn." If people would believe the following truthful statement as readily as they swallow sea-serpent stories, it would be the means of saving thousands of lives. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, if taken in time and given a fair trial, will actually cure consumption of the lungs, which is really scrofulous disease. If this wonderful medicine does not do all we recommend, when taken as directed, we will cheerfully and promptly return all money paid for it. Can any offer be more generous or fair? No other medicine possesses sufficient power over that fatal malady—Consumption, to warrant its manufacturers in selling it under such trying conditions. The "Golden Medical Discovery" is not only the most wonderful alterative, or blood-cleanser, known to medical science, but also possesses superior nutritive and tonic, or strength-giving properties, which assist the food to digest and become assimilated, thus building up both strength and flesh. For all cases of Bronchial, Throat and Lung Diseases, accompanied with lingering coughs, it is absolutely unequaled as a remedy. For Weak Lungs, Spitting of Blood, and kindred affections, it surpasses all other medicines.

$500 REWARD is offered by the manufacturers of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy, for a case of Catarrh in the Head which they cannot cure. By its mild, soothing, and healing properties, Dr. Sage's Remedy cures the worst cases, no matter how bad, or of how long standing. Fifty cents, by druggists.

Solid For Hastings.

ONE OF THE LARGEST CONVENTIONS EVER HELD IN CENTRE COUNTY MET ON MONDAY AND ELECTED

Jas. P Coburn And E C Humes

As Delegates to the Next Republican State Convention, Instructed for Hastings. Full Proceedings.

As a general thing if from forty to fifty per cent. of the delegates throughout the county meet in a political convention it is conceded to be a good-sized convention; but when, like on Monday, about 112 out of 120 assembled it is an undeniable fact that it is something more than the mere love of party that brings them together; and when it is further considered that the said convention is held in the interest of and for the sole purpose of furthering the interests, politically, of one man it must also be conceded that the 'one man' in question commands the undivided esteem and good will of all his neighbors and fellow citizens at and near his home, and this, when the additional fact is taken into consideration that in all the 115 delegates, representing five thousand voters, not one dissenting voice was heard, must, and undoubtedly will, convey to the State at large the earnest conviction that the man that Centre county has chosen, Adjutant General Daniel H Hastings, is a man in whom the whole world could put its trust and never lose thereby.

But this is a slight digression. The convention was called to order at ten minutes past one o'clock by County Chairman, L L Brown. Secretary J C Dale read the call of the convention and then called the roll of delegates, 107 answered at the time and quite a number came in afterwards. Nominations for a chairman were next in order. Guyer Mattern nominated Prof. J W Heston, of State College. The nomination was seconded, and Heston was elected. Guyer Mattern and W D Port were elected secretaries and J H Raggard teller.

Prof. Heston took the chair and made a few preliminary remarks in which he dwelt on the record of the republican party and the duty the convention, as its chose representatives, owed to the party. The Chairman then called for the nomination of delegates to represent Centre county in the next republican State convention.

Mr. Budd Thompson, of Worth township, presented the names of Col. Jas. P Coburn and Mr. E C Humes as delegates. The motion was duly seconded. No other nomination being made Messrs. Coburn and Humes were elected by acclamation, and, on motion of W F Reeder, Esq., the Secretaries were instructed to cast the necessary ballot for the convention.

Mr. S S Crissman, of Philipsburg, read the following resolution which was unanimously adopted:

"The Republican party of the county of Centre in Convention assembled, noticing with pride and satisfaction the efforts which are being made throughout the State to honor our popular and talented fellow citizen Gen. D H Hastings by making him a candidate for the office of Governor of Pennsylvania, recognizing his eminent ability and fitness for said office, believing that he is the choice of the mojority of the Republican party of the State, and desiring to show our appreciation of one whom we deem it an honor to claim as a citizen of Centre county, do hereby Resolve: That we most heartily endorse and ratify the action of his many friends in other sections of the State and hereby instruct the delegates this day elected to represent our county in the next Republican State Convention to vote for and use all honorable means in their power to secure his nomination as candidate for Governor of this Commonwealth."

The urgent business of the convention then being transacted Mr. W F Reeder moved for a short speech from the delegates chosen. Mr. E C Humes was the first to respond and, after duly thanking the convention for the honor, etc., he avowed his determination to do all in his power to bring about the nomination of our most worthy townsman. Col. Coburn next spoke for a few minutes. He not only declared his intention to use all the means in his power but expressed the conviction that Hastings would be nominated. He spoke feelingly of the general in connection with his work at Johnstown. He referred to Hastings as having a reputation clean as a republican, pure as a patriot and able as a man; he is known the wide world over as the friend of suffering humanity.

Col. D S Keller was next called on for a speech and he responded in a fitting address. He was followed by W F Reeder, Esq. Prof. J Hamilton was next called on and for a few minutes that gentleman entertained the convention with one of his characteristic good speeches. He told the delegates that when they went to Harrisburg he did not only want them to try to nominate Hastings but he wanted them to nominate him. W I Swoope was then called on and this young and rising attorney made a thrilling republican speech, after which a motion for adjournment was entertained. The convention broke up with every man feeling satisfied with the work done. Although not loud and boisterous, yet there was considerable enthusiasm displayed and the one thing above all others—a feeling of perfect harmony—prevailed.

REPUBLICAN PRIMARIES.

The Republican primaries for the election of delegates to the County Convention which met in this place at one o'clock Monday were held in every voting precinct in Centre county on Saturday afternoon and evening, and reports received show almost double the usual vote polled on such occasions. Chestnut Grove Church Burned.

On Friday night last a bright light was noticed in the vicinity of Snow Shoe Intersection but it was then impossible to find out what or where it was. Since it has been learned that the fire was the burning of the Chestnut Grove church. It seems that there was some dispute as to the true ownership thereof and it was difficult to tell whether it was German Reformed or Methodist. Its value was about $1200, not insured. It is feared it may have been set on fire.

Not As Reported.

Mr. Jackson C Showers requests the DAILY NEWS to say that he was not in the act of throwing gasoline into the furnace when the explosion occurred on last Thursday evening by which he was so badly burned, but he had just cleaned the gasoline can with a bunch of waste and it was the waste he threw in the furnace. When he threw in the waste he could see no fire at all but, owing to the fact of the damper being down an explosion was the result.

Last Friday evening the home of Mr. Harvey Benner was the scene of a most brilliant affair, it being the occasion of the 20th birthday of Mr. Benner's son, Samuel. Quite a number of young folks were gathered together there in time to surprise the young man, who had been spending the day in Bellefonte and knew nothing whatever of anything unusual going on at his home. During the evening many kinds of innocent games were indulged in until about eleven o'clock when the announcement was made that supper was ready. There was very little time lost in repairing to the dining room where a most sumptuous repast was spread. Cakes, pies, meats, fruits and other edibles too numerous to mention fairly loaded down the table. All in all it was a supper fit for a king; if you don't believe it ask Mr. H. Hoy. HE MEANS BUSINESS.

The Full Particulars About R A Patton's Attempts to Stop Trains from Running Through Port Matilda on Sunday.

The matter of arresting railroaders for running trains through Port Matilda on Sunday promises to be a history of weekly instalments, each one opening and closing with the advent and departure of every Sabbath. It was on Sunday, the 16th day of March, when the first information was made, at the instance of one R A Patton, against all railroaders, nine in number, who ran trains on that day. The hearing was held before Squire Reese. The fine, as imposed by law, for working on the Sabbath, is $4 for each and every instance, and in default of the payment thereof stand committed to the county jail for the period of six days.

The nine men could not pay their fine of four dollars apiece and Squire Reese wrote out commitments for the entire number. They were saved from going to jail, however, by Lawyer Blanchard and Assistant Superintendent Daniel Woods becoming personally responsible for the amount of the fine. The nine men were then discharged and inside of twenty hours after the case was appealed from the justices decision and will now be tried in the courts.

On Sunday, the 23rd instant, information was made against eleven men and warrants placed in the hands of the constable for their arrest. Being unable to locate them at once, Supt. Blair gave a bond in the sum of five hundred dollars for their appearance before Justice of the Peace Thomas Weston Monday at 10 o'clock, when a hearing was given them. We have not yet learned the result of the hearing but we were personally told by the justice on Saturday that, in the event of their refusal or inability to pay the imposed fine of four dollars apiece, he would commit everyone of them to the county jail for six days.

We were at first led to believe that it was because of the piety of Port Matilda people that the information was made but, upon investigation, we find that it is only a case of spite work, pure and simple. R. A. Patton, the man who has been giving the information on which the arrests have been made, is an old railroader. He ran for years on the Bald Eagle—Sundays as well as week days—and was always known as a first class hand. Some time ago, however, he had the misfortune to leave a switch misplaced in the Lock Haven yard and an engine was run off the track and considerably damaged. The company fined Patton five dollars for supposed carelessness. This made the man mad and he at once quit work and sued the company for his pay in full. They paid it in preference to standing a suit but then and there summarily discharged him for once and all from their employ. Mr. Patton bears an unsavory reputation and it is plain to see that his actions, in this case, are purely through spite to "get even" with the company for discharging him for neglect or carelessness.

In the event of the full payment of all fines—or part thereof—the informer is entitled to and will be paid the one-half for his information, the balance would go into the county treasury. If it is law and no settlement can be made Patton can make good wages at the informing business. His share for the first lot would be $18 and $22 for the last lot, and he says he is determined to keep it up or break up the custom. When the case comes up for trial before a court and jury it will likely create considerable interest as it is the first of the kind ever heard of in there parts.

—We have always known and said that the Pittsburg Times was a hustler. On Friday morning at 3 o'clock it came out with a column report of the great destruction by cyclones in the western States, while the other Pittsburg newspapers had never a word of anything of the kind. At five o'clock it gave a correct, though necessarily brief, account and then the other papers just began to find out that there had been a storm. The Times' report on Saturday was the fullest one published.

—One of the best arguments that it is possible to produce in favor of Macademizing all public roads can be found in the present condition of all highways. It seems as if farmers should and would unanimously join in any measure or movement that would promise better roads. And, we think, if the farmers would do their part the next legislature would act favorably on an appropriation bill to help defray the expense. Try it once, farmers.
